0378 20 Lemken compact disc harrow Heliodor 9

0646 07 Winter Service - Flatbed dumper (MB LAK)

0693 26 THW - Low-loading trailer (MB NG)

0861 34 Fire department - flatbed truck (MB short nose truck)

0676 06 Rear-tipper semi-truck (Volvo F89)

0678 49 Three-way tipper (MB Arocs)

0536 03 Tank container semi-truck 30' (MB Actros)

The new construction site generation of Mercedes-Benz has arrived! The Arocs with its distinctive radiator grille in a digging teeth look is updating the great WIKING heritage theme – the model debutant is presented as an attractive three-way tipper. The Volvo F89 in Bölling colors, on the other hand, looks back to illuminate the everyday working world on construction sites in the 1970s, while the Mercedes-Benz Actros escorts a 30-foot tank container for the first time. The Mercedes-

Benz short nose truck awakens memories of bygone decades in its snow-clearing "Winter Service" version as a tipper and as a "Fire Department all-purpose vehicle". As a THW emergency vehicle, the Mercedes-Benz high-sided tipper modeled on the prototype of the 1990s is the latest arrival to move into the program. In addition, there are two cutting-edge agricultural machines from the Lower Rhine-based manufacturer Lemken for rounding out the farming rigs: the Zirkon 12 power harrow and the Heliodor 9 compact disc harrow. A significant new model enrichment in the scale of 1:160 is what we get in the Land Rover with soft-top and the VW T5 GP panel truck in its THW version. Thus the THW is also represented again in the small scale model range.

Parts of the "Gasolin gas station" Set

0990 89 Set "Gasolin gas station"

For individual retrofitting, WIKING fans can now resort to a truck wheel set, with the ever popular Trilex wheels, among other things. True WIKING connoisseurs know how to appreciate the models with the "Flügelrad" shipper logo, because the box trucks already showed up five decades ago in this design, which has always enjoyed great popularity. Beautiful WIKING classics in contemporary colors are also the focus of the model upgrading for December. They include the iron gray Mercedes-Benz 220 S and the pearl white DKW Junior de Luxe with gray roof as well as the NSU Ro 80, whose aerodynamic body line is adorned by the turquoise metallic paint job in vogue at the time. Integrating seamlessly into this era are the Magirus Fire Department round-hooded truck with crew cab and turntable ladder. The Rolls Royce Silver Wraith appears especially refined, luxuriously radiating a regally understated British charm in its two-tone paint job. In addition, the VW T3 makes its appearance as a crew cab in the design of the formerly state-owned Deutsche Bundesbahn. And to celebrate the end of the waning year, the WIKING limited edition of models from historical original molds reflects the goings-on at a gas station of the 1960s in 1:87 scale. Entitled "Nimm Dir Zeit für Gasolin!", authentically designed miniatures are a cheerful reminder of the major gasoline brand during the German economic miracle – even the gas station and garage are included.

0778 19 Kuhn big baler LSB 1290 iD

During harvesting, the Kuhn big baler LSB 1290 iD guarantees square bales that are up to 25% denser than those made with a conventional baler. WIKING shows how it's done – all predominant functions of the prototype have been miniaturized. All the machine covers can be opened. The flywheel is hidden behind the front transmission cover, the side covers reveal the removable yarn boxes for the packaging strips. There is the cover hood on the roof, which also allows technically fascinating insights.

0778 15 Valtra T174 with front loader

Even in 1:32 scale, the Valtra T174 confirms its reputation as an agile and powerful farm and harvest aid. Thanks to its fully movable front loader, the benefits of the Valtra idea of "365 days visibility" can be reaped. Narrow cab posts and the best possible all-round visibility make tractor work easy at any time of the day or night. Of course, the wheels can be changed in this model, too.

0773 46 Amazone sprayer UX 11200

A superlative also in the model size: With the UX 11200, Amazone features the dimensions of an impressive 12,000-liter sprayer with tandem axle. The Super-L booms allow the presentation of the entire performance spectrum of the prototype in the modelmaker's working widths. The wide, foldable sprayer arms as well as the liftable and lowerable sprayer support frame all do their part to achieve this. The pump works are reproduced in rich detail; the domed lid on the top side of the tank can be opened.

0778 16 Grimme bunker harvester SE 260

With the off-set trailed Grimme SE 260, WIKING miniaturizes the bunker harvester in 1:32 scale for the first time. The WIKING model has a hinged drawbar and a suspended swing axle for the off-set trailed tractor insert. Great model-making quality of detail is hiding under the red Grimme cover panel – a look into the guts of the machinery is fascinating.
